

An Update on SNRS Members in Alabama

Over the past weeks tornadoes and storms have caused much destruction and death throughout the southeast. Communities across the southeast have suffered, particularly communities in Alabama with the largest number of deaths, injuries and widespread destruction.

We have heard from faculty at UAB School of Nursing (Birmingham), University of Alabama Capstone College of Nursing, University of Alabama in Huntsville College of Nursing, and Jacksonville State University College of Nursing. Many of our faculty, staff, students, and alumni have experienced significant losses with family, friends and neighbors who were injured or killed in the storm and/or damage or complete destruction of their homes. Our faculty, staff and students have worked long hours to provide care and support to victims of the storms.

Please keep our Alabama members and students in your thoughts and prayers.
