

Information we hope that you will find useful.

Please find below information regarding publication of documents you may find useful as an SNRS member.

National Nursing Research Roundtable (NNRR) has shared that its publications from the 2018 meeting - Promoting State-of-the-Art Biobehavioral Approaches in Symptom Science Research through Inter- and Intra-Professional Collaborations are now available. Some of these documents were also published in the Jan 2019 issue of the Journal of Nursing Scholarship. These can be found on the NINR website at the link below:
